

ABSTRACT

A dart game score board includes a case having a front face with two orthogonal arrays of display windows, a plurality of number keys and cancel buttons, two keypads, each having a four digit display, electronic circuitry having a microprocessor and processing firmware programmed to contain the instructions in the source code list, and a microprocessor data/command input-output generator and computational device.

09736787-121500